

Remote Remodel

Home Project Completed a World Away

Jack and Julia Gannon of Lake Ariel wanted to remodel their home but needed to find a builder they could trust to do the job well. Since the Gannons had to be in Germany during the remodeling in autumn of 2007, they had special concerns because they could not be on site. "We were very worried about how the construction process would go," says Julia. "We had heard horror stories about contractors from friends and family." However, after choosing Clemluddy Construction of Hawley, PA to do the job, she admits, "Our remodel turned out terrific. Clemluddy couldn't have made it any easier for us!" Jack agrees, "The whole thing ran smoothly, and the finished product is something that we and our family will enjoy for years."

One unique service Clemluddy provides all clients was especially helpful to the Gannons. As they were an ocean away, the Gannons were able to exchange regular updates, photos and comments through Clemluddy's "Your Project Journal." The web-based journal displays the start and completion date of tasks related to the project, so clients can check on progress at any time throughout the remodeling or construction process by logging online with a unique username and password. Photos of progress are available on the journal, and clients are able to share them with friends and family. A file upload option and message board streamline communication, especially for those who travel frequently or live at a second home. For more, call 570-226-2899 or visit Clemluddy.com! ■
